FROM THE WEST.

[From the Sacramento Union.]

Auburn, January 10.

One of the most horrible murders ever committed was perpetrated here last night about half-past nine or ten o'clock. The victim was William McDaniel, an old and highly respected merchant of this town, having been engaged in business here for twelve or fourteen years. Not returning from his store at his usual time, Mrs. McDaniel went to the store, which is but a few feet from the dwelling-house, to ascertain the cause of the delay. As she stepped in at the rear door of the store, near which the safe was standing, some person with a light in hand, and who Mrs. McDaniel believes to have been a Chinaman, retreated from near the safe and immediately escaped at the front door, setting the light upon the counter as he did so. Near the stove, upon the floor, she found her husband lying dead, with his head nearly severed from his body, and the hatchet or small ax with which the deed was committed lying near. Upon examination it was found that the safe had been opened and a gold watch, money and other valuables abstracted. The unfortunate man was probably struck down while sitting on a chair. A general gloom seems to have been brought over the whole community by the perpetration of the atrocious act.

Victoria, January 9.

The schooner Gazelle, Captain Nannovich, from the northwest coast, arrived here last night, having two sailors of the Hawaiian bark Maunaken, Captain Robinson, which vessel left Port Gamble with lumber for the Sandwich Islands on the 2d of November, and was totally lost near Koskeemo Sound on the 25th of the same month. The bark was thrown on her beam ends, and when off Cape Flattery, on the 10th of November, the deck load went over the side. The second mate, Brooks, was lost overboard, and a seaman, Johnson, who was in the cabin, drowned. The main and mizzenmasts were cut away when the vessel righted, but being waterlogged she floated helplessly. Fifteen days the persons on board were suffering dreadful privations, when she went ashore at Koskeemo and broke up immediately. All hands landed on on rafts, and were immediately made prisoners by the Indians, who reduced them to a state of slavery. They were held captives for forty days, when the two men who arrived last night contrived to escape, and reached the Hudson Bay Company's station at Fort Rupert on the 28th of December, when their wants were supplied and passages secured for them on the Gazelle, which sailed thence on the 2d of January for Victoria. Messengers had been dispatched to Koskeemo, demanding the surrender of the slayers of the crew of the schooner. Two of the survivors at Koskeemo were terribly frost-bitten, and nearly dead from the effects of exposure while on the wreck. Application has been made to the Government for a naval steamer to proceed to Koskeemo and rescue the wrecked seamen of the Maunakea from the grasp of the Indians.

THE ORIGIN OF FRICTION MATCHES.—In 1832 a man by the name of Phillips, in Oakland, Connecticut, invented and patented a match that would ignite by friction. He made them upon a small scale, as his means were limited, put them in tin boxes of one hundred each, and sold them to the inhabitants about, carrying them in a pocket handkerchief. Many persons still recollect the fear are consternation in the minds of the people at the time, lest their houses and barns would be burned by the hand of the incendiary, and many thought that he should be restrained from scattering his fire-brands in the community. Phillips afterwards removed to Springfield, Massachusetts, where he formed a copartnership with a man by the name of Chapin, under the title of "Chapin & Phillips," when they largely increased the production of matches. The first matches were made and dipped singly by hand; afterwards Phillips invented the card matches. Such, in brief, is the early history of this little article that is now considered an indispensable necessity. There must be many persons now living in Hartford who will recollect the red wagon, painted in large letters upon the side, "Friction Matches," as it passed through the streets, drawn by one horse.

DEFINITIONS NOT IN WEBSTER.—Buss, to kiss again; pluribus, to kiss without regard to sex; sillibus, to kiss the hand instead of the lips; blunderbuss, to kiss the wrong person; omnibus, to kiss all the persons in the room; erebus, to kiss in the dark. Evidently the country girl who went down to the city recently had these definitions in her mind. A young gentlemen was to escort her some distance through the town, and not wishing to walk remarked, "Hold on, Mary, let's take a 'bus';" but Mary, blushing to the eyebrows, drew back, and with wounded modesty replied, "Oh, George, not right here in the street."

CONVERTED.—The Chicago Tribune says: "A remarkable event took place lately at the Clark street Methodist Episcopal Church, where a prayer meeting was being held by the members of the congregation. During the course of the proceedings a Roman Catholic priest—the Rev. Father Kenny, of Dubuque—arose and formally renounced his faith in presence of the congregation. Father Kenny has officiated for several years past at Dubuque."

SHARP CORRESPONDENCE.—The following recently appeared in the Springfield (Mass.) Republican:

"To the editor of the Springfield (Mass.) Republican: Don't say won't for will not, and oblige your friend, ENGLISH."

"No you don't." If we can't say won't we won't say don't. One is as good as t'other.—Republican.

SENATORIAL VOTE.—The Reveille published the following dispatch:

Carson, January 15—2:34 P. M.

DeLong, 21; Nye, 18; Tom Williams, 7; Tom Fitch, 4; Winters, 1.

A Havanna letter says the importation of Chinamen is increasing. At least 10,000 are expected during the coming season. Most planters prefer them to negroes, as they are more intelligent and industrious.

APPOINTMENT.—Captain A. W. Evans, who was stationed some time since at [illegible] as Captain of California Volunteers, has been appointed a Captain in the regular [illegible].

Salt Lake City, November 3, 1866.

The Pacific Railroad.

We have before said that Utah is most deeply interested in the early completion of the Pacific Railroad. When the iron horse shall reach her metropolis, from the East and from the West, it will bring to her renewed prosperity and increasing wealth. But above this, the hope is confidently indulged that it will prove the potent lever to upturn the incubus which rests like a nightmare on her highest interests. If Mormonism can withstand the assaults of intelligence, contact with the world, the friction of civilization, and the influence of daily and rapid commerce, we are content.

This test of its truth and sincerity must come at an early day. It can neither be shirked nor avoided, and the sooner, the better for all concerned. Its isolation, hitherto and still barring out discussion and fair play, and independence of thought and action, under the "counsel" of men whose word has more than the validity and potency of the laws of the Medes and Persians, has alone rendered possible the state of affairs now existing in Utah. The opening up of the avenues of commerce, and the free interchange of sentiment with the outside world, cannot but work a radical change, unless, indeed, the progress of civilization, enlightenment and Christianity, of which we have hitherto boasted, be all a mistake, a huge blunder, and the world has been going backwards instead of forwards during nineteen centuries. This latter is what the Church leaders claim, and the mass of their followers fervently believe. That the final test may be applied as soon as possible is the ardent wish of every enlightened Gentile, and should be of every fair-minded Morman, who honestly believes in the truth of his professions.

As we have said in former articles, it is to the interest of the constructors of the Railroad, to commence forthwith the erection of rolling and saw mills in or near this city, to manufacture the rails and ties from Utah resources, and commence building the road Eastward from this point. We understand that the Union Pacific Company (which is constructing the road from Omaha westward,) is ready and desirous to do this, but there is a clause in the law which prevents them from undertaking it. The second section of the Act of Congress of July 3d, 1866, authorizes them to continue their road from Omaha, in a continuous completed line, until they shall meet and connect with the Central Pacific R. R. Co. of California; and the latter is also authorized to locate and construct its road Eastward until it connects with the U. P. R. R. To this authorization is added the following restrictional proviso, viz: "Provided, That each of the above named Companies shall have the right, when the nature of the work to be done, by reason of deep cuts and tunnels, shall, for the expeditious construction of the Pacific rail road, require it, to work for an extent of not to exceed three hundred miles in advance of their continuous completed line."

The object of this proviso manifestly is to prevent either Company from forestalling the other in securing lands along the route donated to aid the construction of the road, until the line shall be fairly built. This has had the effect of spurring up both Companies to a generous rivalry, until the U. P. R. R. has during the past summer built their road up the Platte at the rapid rate of from one and a-half to two miles per day.

But the restriction has also the effect of preventing either Company from commencing building the road from Salt Lake City, east or west, to connect with their roads being constructed from either termini. As the Union Pacific is anxious to commence, during next year, constructing their road from this city eastward towards Denver, it is greatly to be hoped that Congress will reconcile whatever conflicting interests may arise between that Company and the California organization, and remove the restriction. We are free to confess that we have no preference for either line, as against the other, but the U. P. R. Road seems to have the ability, the energy, and the determination to build the road with a rapidity unparalleled in engineering. And for the reasons suggested at the beginning of this article, as well as others which are even more manifest, we desire to see the good work begun in Utah. We hope early in the Spring to be able to chronicle the beginning of the construction of the Pacific Railroad, both east and west from Great Salt Lake City.

A CENTER SHOT.—The Philadelphia North American delivers the following keen and fatal center shot:

At the same time that the President so vehemently opposes the admission of the inchoate States of Colorado and Nebraska, on account of alleged deficiency of population, he strennously insists upon the admission of Florida, which has less white population than either Colorado or Nebraska, and does not receive one emigrant where those States receive ten. There are more miles of railway built in Nebraska than in Florida, and the latter has no town that can begin to compare in population, wealth or trade with Omaha or Denver. Florida has been in open rebellion against the National Government, and has only been conquered by force and compelled to become loyal. Colorado remained firm and true to the republic throughout the whole war, furnished soldiers to the National armies and did her duty manfully, as also did Nebraska. Yet the President demands that Florida shall be again recognized as a State, and that Colorado and Nebraska should be refused. If such States as Florida are fit to have Senators in Congress, most assuredly Colorado and Nebraska are also.

FROM THE WEST.

[From the Virginia Union.]

San Francisco, January 14.

The opposition steamship America is hourly expected to arrive at this port, and the usual precautions have been taken to prevent a spread of the contagion supposed to be on board. Collector Miller has placed the steam cutter Wyanda under the orders of Dr. Elliott, the quarantine officer, who has given orders for stopping all steamships or steam vessels, except Government vessels, coming into the harbor from any port south of the southern line of this State, and to allow no boats to pass to or from said ships or vessels until permission be given by the officers of health.

Mr. Raymond, the agent of the Nicaragua line of steamships in this city, has received a telegram from W. H. Webb, President of the Company in New York, stating that there had been but thirty-five cholera deaths on the Isthmus of Nicaragua, among outward-bound passengers, and there had been no new cases reported on the last steamer which left for New York, and that the disease was subsiding.

The United States Grand Jury have presented true bills of indictment, as follows: James Carroll, second mate of the bark Swallow—two indictments—for stabbing a man, and also for striking another man with a handspike; Richard Dugan, the refractory sailor of the ship Reynard, for an assault with a deadly weapon, in drawing his knife on the Captain; and John H. Stephen and Jesse Avery, first and second mates of the ship Shatemuc, for beating seamen—two indictments were found against Stephen. All of the parties, with the exception of Edgar, were arraigned before Judge Hoffman this morning, and pleaded not guilty.

APPEAL FOR THE SUFFERING CRETANS.—Mr. Stillman, U. S. Consul to the Island of Crete, addresses the following note to the editor of the New York Times:

Will you permit me to make, through your columns, an appeal to the American people in behalf of the Cretan families reduced to destitution and suffering by the destruction of their crops and villages in consequence of the pending hostilities.

Thousands of them, self-exiled to the nearest Greek islands, are without employment or provision for the winter, and those who remain of the women and children, seek to join the more fortunate of the refugees.

If the world's charity is not large to these unfortunates, there will be such suffering as has not been known in this part of the world since the Greek revolution, when American charity saved the lives of thousands of Cretans, and won blessings which are still clinging to our nation.

What we want is not arms or material to strengthen the insurgents, but bread to keep women and children from perishing. Will not the charitable organize some effort to keep our Christian poor from starvation. The Greeks are doing all they can, but the sufferers are many and the Greek nation poor.

Contributions might be sent by any Levant-bound ship to Syra, care of the U. S. Consular-General, Em. Sapunzacki; but what would be worthier of us would be to send a ship freighted for these unfortunates.

A MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT IN THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.—Lindsey, member of Parliament in England, and one of those who opposed our Government so fiercely in the late rebellion, is party to a suit now pending in the Supreme Court, and is represented by counsel. The suit involves about $100,000. It seems, in 1854, the Opelousa Railroad Company of Lousiana purchased some 20,000 tons of railroad iron from Lindsey. He promised to deliver the iron at a certain date, but failed to do so. When it was delivered, the price of iron had fallen considerably, and the company refused to take it. Lindsey then sued for the difference in price, alleging that it was the fault of the company's shippers in Liverpool. The case was decided in favor of Lindsey just about the time the rebellion commenced. The war prevented their getting the amount of damages, and now the company bring up the case on a writ of error.—New York Tribune.

W. R. OLIVER, of Forest Hill, California, is introducing a process for sulphurization, for which he claims almost magic powers. He says he can work a ton of the most refractory sulphurets in from one and a-half to two hours, extracting in that time all the precious metals. His process is being used in several cement mills.

A SHORT time since a billiard match was played at Moore's Flat, Nevada County, Cal., which lasted twenty-three consecutive hours.

THE Detroit Post says that ex-Alderman I. W. Ingersoll of that city is heir, with less than twenty other persons, to $16,600,000, the accumulation of a sum of money deposited forty years ago by his maternal grandmother in the Orphan's Court of Holland, for the descendants of Isaac Weblers, of New York, one of whom he is.

A. H. HAYES, printer, well known throughout the United States, and formerly a resident of San Francisco, died recently in New Orleans. He was born in Gettysburg, Penn., in 1806. He stood high in his profession, and was esteemed by all who knew him.

Sergeant O'Toole, who took part in twenty-eight engagements during the rebellion, and came out of them all unhurt, was recently killed in an Indian fight in Idaho Territory. After such a record of honorable service, it seems hard for a soldier to be killed by a Snake Indian sticking him full of arrows. He was able to walk within a few minutes of his death. Though dangerously wounded, he did not think it would prove fatal, and he was being taken to Fort Boise for treatment as fast as possible, and to have the arrow-heads extracted. At once he began to sink rapidly, and told his companions that he was about to die, and breathed his last before he had finished speaking.

George Francis Train is not so much of a fool that he cannot make money. He has just received $50,000 as an installment of $350,000 due him for some negotiation in behalf of the Kansas branch of the Pacific Railroad.

The Montana Democrat says: From all the information we can gather from parties who have returned from the Salmon river mines, we are led to the belief that they are very rich, and will be the best paying camp in the Territory. Two towns have already sprung up there, and about two thousand miners are ready to operate in the spring. As soon as work can be done there will be a great rush in that direction. These mines are about one hundred and twenty miles from Virginia City, and sixty miles from Bannack.

PROTECTION FROM INDIANS.—The following well-timed remarks are from the Bulletin of the 10th:

Wells, Fargo & Co., who have become the proprietors of the Overland mail route, have applied to the Government for protection against the depredations of Indians upon the property of the Company. Now that the Overland route has become of national importance, there can be no diversity of opinion about granting the fullest protection. This has been the theory for years, but practically, these efforts have been lamentable failures. A few troops stationed here and there, have been called out after a series of outrages have been committed and the Indians have gone back to the fastnesses of the mountains. But there never has been any adequate protection—nothing which the Indians themselves did not affect to despise. If the whole business of protecting this route were given to men who have spent their lives in these territories, and know how to deal with Indians, the fullest protection would be gained at the smallest cost. We should not have to record such disasters as the one which occurred a few days ago, when a few Indians swept out of existence a body of 100 United States troops. Men who from long experience and observation know the habits of the redskins, never suffer themselves to be drawn into ambush, or to be taken by surprise by these cunning savages. If the old red tape system of fighting Indians is still to prevail, it will require two United States soldiers for every Indian who crosses the route; and then we shall not be freed from depredations. The whole Overland route can be divided into sections of fifty miles, and given to men who know the Indians and the country, who would secure complete protection for one half the cost incurred by regular garrisons of United States troops.

KEEPING HOUSE.—The Senatorial candidates at Carson are all keeping House; a Storey Assemblyman, yesterday, called them "camps;" so we will adopt the name best known in Carson. Senator Nye has his camp in the parlors of the Ormsby House; that is where Stewart and Nye camped two years ago—lucky parlors! Mr. DeLong camps at the Penrod House. General Winters camps at the White House; that's where DeLong camped two years ago, but "fell short." Mr. Fitch camps at the St. Charles, with Uncle Tuffy—(Tom has plenty of stern backing.) Whitman went down yesterday, but as all the hotels are full of camps, we would advise him to go to "the brewery." We have understood that there is no drinking or smoking allowed in any of these camps.—Gold Hill News.

Salt Lake City, November 8, 1866.

The Pacific Railroad.

We have before said that Utah is most deeply interested in the early completion of the Pacific Railroad. When the iron horse shall reach her metropolis, from the East and from the West, it will bring to her renewed prosperity and increasing wealth. But above this, the hope is confidently indulged that it will prove the potent lever to upturn the incubus which rests like a nightmare on her highest interests. If Mormonism can withstand the assaults of intelligence, contact with the world, the friction of civilization, and the influence of daily and rapid commerce, we are content.

This test of its truth and sincerity must come at an early day. It can neither be shirked nor avoided, and the sooner, the better for all concerned. Its isolation, hitherto and still barring out discussion and fair play, and independence of thought and action, under the "counsel" of men whose word has more than the validity and potency of the laws of the Medes and Persians, has alone rendered possible the state of affairs now existing in Utah. The opening up of the avenues of commerce, and the free interchange of sentiment with the outside world, cannot but work a radical change, unless, indeed, the progress of civilization, enlightenment and Christianity, of which we have hitherto boasted, be all a mistake, a huge blunder, and the world has been going backwards instead of forwards during nineteen centuries. This latter is what the Church leaders claim, and the mass of their followers fervently believe. That the final test may be applied as soon as possible is the ardent wish of every enlightened Gentile, and should be of every fair-minded Morman, who honestly believes in the truth of his professions.

As we have said in former articles, it is to the interest of the constructors of the Railroad, to commence forthwith the erection of rolling and saw mills in or near this city, to manufacture the rails and ties from Utah resources, and commence building the road Eastward from this point. We understand that the Union Pacific Company (which is constructing the road from Omaha westward,) is ready and desirous to do this, but there is a clause in the law which prevents them from undertaking it. The second section of the Act of Congress of July 3d, 1866, authorizes them to continue their road from Omaha, in a continuous completed line, until they shall meet and connect with the Central Pacific R. R. Co. of California; and the latter is also authorized to locate and construct its road Eastward until it connects with the U. P. R. R. To this authorization is added the following restrictional proviso, viz: "Provided, That each of the above named Companies shall have the right, when the nature of the work to be done, by reason of deep cuts and tunnels, shall, for the expeditious construction of the Pacific rail road, require it, to work for an extent of not to exceed three hundred miles in advance of their continuous completed line."

The object of this proviso manifestly is to prevent either Company from forestalling the other in securing lands along the route donated to aid the construction of the road, until the line shall be fairly built. This has had the effect of spurring up both Companies to a generous rivalry, until the U. P. R. R. has during the past summer built their road up the Platte at the rapid rate of from one and a-half to two miles per day.

But the restriction has also the effect of preventing either Company from commencing building the road from Salt Lake City, east or west, to connect with their roads being constructed from either termini. As the Union Pacific is anxious to commence, during next year, constructing their road from this city eastward towards Denver, it is greatly to be hoped that Congress will reconcile whatever conflicting interests may arise between that Company and the California organization, and remove the restriction. We are free to confess that we have no preference for either line, as against the other, but the U. P. R. Road seems to have the ability, the energy, and the determination to build the road with a rapidity unparalleled in engineering. And for the reasons suggested at the beginning of this article, as well as others which are even more manifest, we desire to see the good work begun in Utah. We hope early in the Spring to be able to chronicle the beginning of the construction of the Pacific Railroad, both east and west from Great Salt Lake City.

A CENTER SHOT.—The Philadelphia North American delivers the following keen and fatal center shot:

At the same time that the President so vehemently opposes the admission of the inchoate States of Colorado and Nebraska on account of alleged deficiency of population, he strenuously insists upon the admission of Florida, which has less white population than either Colorado or Nebraska, and does not receive one emigrant where those States receive ten. There are more miles of railway built in Nebraska than in Florida, and the latter has no town that can begin to compare in population, wealth or trade with Omaha or Denver. Florida has been in open rebellion against the National Government, and has only been conquered by force and compelled to become loyal. Colorado remained firm and true to the republic throughout the whole war, furnished soldiers to the National armies and did her duty manfully, as also did Nebraska. Yet the President demands that Florida shall be again recognized as a State, and that Colorado and Nebraska should be refused. If such States as Florida are fit to have Senators in Congress, most assuredly Colorado and Nebraska are also.

FROM THE WEST.

San Francisco, January 14.

The opposition steamship America is hourly expected to arrive at this port, and the usual precautions have been taken to prevent a spread of the contagion supposed to be on board. Collector Miller has placed the steam cutter Wyanda under the orders of Dr. Elliott, the quarantine officer, who has given orders for stopping all steamships or steam vessels, except Government vessels, coming into the harbor from any port south of the southern line of this State, and to allow no boats to pass to or from said ships or vessels until permission be given by the officers of health.

Mr. Raymond, the agent of the Nicaragua line of steamships in this city, has received a telegram from W. H. Webb, President of the Company in New York, stating that there had been but thirty-five cholera deaths on the Isthmus of Nicaragua, among outward-bound passengers, and there had been no new cases reported on the last steamer which left for New York, and that the disease was subsiding.

The United States Grand Jury have presented true bills of indictment, as follows: James Carroll, second mate of the bark Swallow—two indictments—for stabbing a man, and also for striking another man with a handspike; Richard Dugan, the refractory sailor of the ship Reynard, for an assault with a deadly weapon, in drawing his knife on the Captain; and John H. Stephen and Jesse Avery, first and second mates of the ship Shatemuc, for beating seamen—two indictments were found against Stephen. All of the parties, with the exception of Edgar, were arraigned before Judge Hoffman this morning, and pleaded not guilty.

Michael Phelan, and old merchant of this city, formerly of the firm of J. and M. Phelan, died at his residence in Fordham, Westchester county, New York, on the 19th ult., in the 47th year of his age. Deceased arrived in San Francisco in April, 1849.

APPEAL FOR THE SUFFERING CRETANS.—Mr. Stillman, U. S. Consul to the Island of Crete, addresses the following note to the editor of the New York Times:

Will you permit me to make, through your columns, an appeal to the American people in behalf of the Cretan families reduced to destitution and suffering by the destruction of their crops and villages in consequence of the pending hostilities.

Thousands of them, self-exiled to the nearest Greek islands, are without employment or provision for the winter, and those who remain of the women and children, seek to join the more fortunate of the refugees.

If the world's charity is not large to these unfortunates, there will be such suffering as has not been known in this part of the world since the Greek revolution, when American charity saved the lives of thousands of Cretans, and won blessings which are still clinging to our nation.

What we want is not arms or material to strengthen the insurgents, but bread to keep women and children from perishing. Will not the charitable organize some effort to keep our Christian poor from starvation. The Greeks are doing all they can, but the sufferers are many and the Greek nation poor.

Contributions might be sent by any Levant-bound ship to Syra, care of the U. S. Consular-General, Em. Sapunzacki; but what would be worthier of us would be to send a ship freighted for these unfortunates.

A MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT IN THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.—Lindsey, member of Parliament in England, and one of those who opposed our Government so fiercely in the late rebellion, is party to a suit now pending in the Supreme Court, and is represented by counsel. The suit involves about $100,000. It seems, in 1854, the Opelousa Railroad Company of Lousiana purchased some 20,000 tons of railroad iron from Lindsey. He promised to deliver the iron at a certain date, but failed to do so. When it was delivered, the price of iron had fallen considerably, and the company refused to take it. Lindsey then sued for the difference in price, alleging that it was the fault of the company's shippers in Liverpool. The case was decided in favor of Lindsey just about the time the rebellion commenced. The war prevented their getting the amount of damages, and now the company bring up the case on a writ of error.—New York Tribune.

W. R. OLIVER, of Forest Hill, California, is introducing a process for sulphurization, for which he claims almost magic powers. He says he can work a ton of the most refractory sulphurets in from one and a-half to two hours, extracting in that time all the precious metals. His process is being used in several cement mills.

A SHORT time since a billiard match was played at Moore's Flat, Nevada County, Cal., which lasted twenty-three consecutive hours.

THE Detroit Post says that ex-Alderman I. W. Ingersoll of that city is heir, with less than twenty other persons, to $16,000,000, the accumulation of a sum of money deposited forty years ago by his maternal grandmother in the Orphan's Court of Holland, for the descendants of Isaac Weblers, of New York, one of whom he is.

A. H. HAYES, printer, well known throughout the United States, and formerly a resident of San Francisco, died recently in New Orleans. He was born in Gettysburg, Penn., in 1806. He stood high in his profession, and was esteemed by all who knew him.

Sergeant O'Toole, who took part in twenty-eight engagements during the rebellion, and came out of them all unhurt, was recently killed in an Indian fight in Idaho Territory. After such a record of honorable service, it seems hard for a soldier to be killed by a Snake Indian sticking him full of arrows. He was able to walk within a few minutes of his death. Though dangerously wounded, he did not think it would prove fatal, and he was being taken to Fort Boise for treatment as fast as possible, and to have the arrow-heads extracted. At once he began to sink rapidly, and told his companions that he was about to die, and breathed his last before he had finished speaking.

George Francis Train is not so much of a fool that he cannot make money. He has just received $50,000 as an installment of $350,000 due him for some negotiation in behalf of the Kansas branch of the Pacific Railroad.

The Montana Democrat says: From all the information we can gather from parties who have returned from the Salmon river mines, we are led to the belief that they are very rich, and will be the best paying camp in the Territory. Two towns have already sprung up there, and about two thousand miners are ready to operate in the spring. As soon as work can be done there will be a great rush in that direction. These mines are about one hundred and twenty miles from Virginia City, and sixty miles from Bannack.

PROTECTION FROM INDIANS.—The following well-timed remarks are from the Bulletin of the 10th:

Wells, Fargo & Co., who have become the proprietors of the Overland mail route, have applied to the Government for protection against the depredations of Indians upon the property of the Company. Now that the Overland route has become of national importance, there can be no diversity of opinion about granting the fullest protection. This has been the theory for years, but peaceably. These efforts have been lamentable failures. A few troops stationed here and there, have been called out after a series of outrages have been committed and the Indians have gone back to the fastnesses of the mountains. But there never has been any adequate protection—nothing which the Indians themselves did not affect to despise. If the whole business of protecting this route were given to men who have spent their lives in these territories, and know how to deal with Indians, the fullest protection would be gained at the smallest cost. We should not have to record such disasters as the one which occurred a few days ago, when a few Indians swept out of existence a body of 100 United States troops. Men who from long experience and observation know the habits of the redskins, never suffer themselves to be drawn into ambush, or to be taken by surprise by these cunning savages. If the old red tape system of fighting Indians is still to prevail, it will require two United States soldiers for every Indian who crosses the route; and then we shall not be freed from depredations. The whole Overland route can be divided into sections of fifty miles, and given to men who know the Indians and the country, who would secure complete protection for one half the cost incurred by regular garrisons of United States troops.

KEEPING HOUSE.—The Senatorial candidates at Carson are all keeping House; a Storey Assemblyman, yesterday, called them "camps;" so we will adopt the name best known in Carson. Senator Nye has his camp in the parlors of the Ormsby House; that is where Stewart and Nye camped two years ago—lucky parlors! Mr. DeLong camps at the Penrod House. General Winters camps at the White House; that's where DeLong camped two years ago, but "fell short." Mr. Fitch camps at the St. Charles, with Uncle Tuffy—(Tom has plenty of stern backing.) Whitman went down yesterday, but as all the hotels are full of camps, we would advise him to go to "the brewery." We have understood that there is no drinking or smoking allowed in any of these camps.—Gold Hill News.
